Suggestions for Use:

1. Sing the song through twice. The second time through, have a soloist or group of singers sing the countermelody with others singing the main melody.
2. Sing the song through twice. The second time through, have someone play the countermelody on a flute, violin or the upper part of the piano.
3. Have a few children play the countermelody with handbells while the others sing the main melody.
4. Divide the singers in half. The first time through, have them sing the main melody, the second time through the countermelody, and the third time through both together.
